List of Contributors (in order of appearance):

Dr Claire Gallien lectures in English at Montpellier University (UPVM) and is a research member of the CNRS. She works principally on early-modern and Enlightenment orientalism in relation to literary canon formation and on contemporary Arab literatures in English/Arabic. More broadly, her research partakes of postcolonial, decolonial, comparative, as well as translation studies.

Natasa Thoudam is a Research Scholar at the, Department of Humanities and Social Sciences, Indian Institute of Technology, Bombay.

Dr. Esra Mirze Santesso is an Associate Professor of English at the University of Georgia

Ayesha Begum has studied in Jamia Milia Isalamia, New Delhi and Presidency University. Her area of interests include Modernist Literature, Post-Colonial Literature, Middle Eastern Politics and Culture. She has co-authored a paper titled, “Shakespeare in India: Appropriating the Cannon”, at the ‘Global Shakespeare Conference’, Presidency University. She has also done an editorial internship at ‘Orient Blackswan’ and is a budding poet, writing during leisure.

Allie Faden is a doctoral student at the University of Houston and an adjunct instructor at Houston Community College. Her primary research areas are eighteenth-century British literature, Irish studies, and colonial and postcolonial uses of torture and execution against colonial collaborators.

Kapil Sharma has completed his post-graduation in English Literature from the University of Delhi.

Abhijit Ghosh is an Assistant Professor of English Literature in the Balagarh Bijoy Krishna Mahavidyalaya, affiliated to the University of Burdwan.

Innocent Akilimale Ngulube is a Part-time Lecturer in the English Department at University of Malawi, Chancellor College