

Postcolonial Interventions (ISSN 2455-6564)

Call for Papers

Vol. VIII, Issue 2 (June 2023)

From the essential violence of colonial conquest and rule to the emancipatory potentialities of anti-colonial violence argued by Fanon and others to the non-violence championed by Mahatma Gandhi – violence has been a component of constant exploration within the domain of postcolonial studies. Countries which secured independence from colonial rule were also embroiled in and continue to be ravaged by various forms of exclusionary violence based on considerations of class, caste, race, gender, sexuality, ethnicity, religion and much more. Whether in Kashmir or in Myanmar or in Palestine or in various African countries or in Eastern Europe – protracted violence continues wreak havoc in many shapes and forms across much of the developing world. This is also coupled by various forms of financial and cultural violence unleashed by dominant institutions and discourses associated with global capital flows. The next issue of Postcolonial Interventions seeks to focus on explorations of violence in postcolonial literature and culture across multiple platforms and media.

Submission Guidelines:

1. Articles must be original and unpublished. Submission will imply that it is not being considered for publication elsewhere.
2. Written in Times New Roman 12, double spaced with 1" margin on all sides, in doc/docx format.
3. Between 4000-7000 words, inclusive of all citations.
4. With in-text citations and a Works Cited list complying with Chicago Manual of Style (author-date) specifications.
5. A separate cover page should include the author's name, designation, an abstract of 250 words with a maximum of 5 keywords and a short bio-note of 50 words.
6. The main article should not in any way contain the author's name. Otherwise the article will not be considered.
7. Reviews also need to follow the aforementioned guidelines. However, word limit for reviews is 1500 words.
8. The contributors are responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce any material, including photographs and illustrations for which they do not hold copyright.

Please send all your contributions to postcolonialinterventions@gmail.com within 30th April, 2023.